

Cafosa operations update in times of Covid-19

Faced with the novel Coronavirus global pandemic, business operations in general are still affected to a larger or lesser extent worldwide.

Spain has recently come under the spotlight again, with certain regions more affected over the past few weeks, and some restrictive measures imposed on the population by local authorities. Nonetheless, there is no nation-wide restriction imposed by the government.

All of this comes to say that for us at Cafosa it is business as usual, under the new normality. Our production, supply, technical services etc. are all up and running and we are as ready as ever to serve our customers.

Needless to say, all operations are carried out under strict health and safety practices, as our primary concern is and always has been, our associates' wellbeing.

Our commitment to safety and quality

National and regional shut-downs around the globe translated in business slow-down in most regions for our partners. Faced with this context and committed to our principles of quality, efficiency and mutuality, we took advantage of the situation over the past month to slow down production and carry out revamp works at our facilities. We improved machinery, halls, workflows and factory organization in order to upgrade safety and quality standards.

We also implemented additional health and safety measure against Covid-19, and reinforced yet again the protocol to all associates.

Our facilities are up and running normally and will continue to do so.

We are committed to delivering the best product and service to our customers.
